Book Two of INTERSTELLAR...

We are about to be attacked by an advanced alien civilization, the insect parents of our lowly ants. Book One, The Response, revealed our ants were brought here 140,000,000 years ago to rule our planet. With their interstellar colonization disrupted by the unexpected rise of human beings, the enraged aliens have decided to unleash their deadly war machines against Earth with one purpose, our extermination, and they're considerably larger than their offspring. It's time to meet the parents.

Author's note: From the Void is Book Two of the series. It is suggested that Book One, The Response, be read first for maximum effect.

Gary Naiman has written twelve novels. His background includes twenty years at Paramount Pictures and classified projects within the chemical and weapons industries. One of his books is being considered for a motion picture.
