The Bible Cause: A History of the American Bible Society John Fea

Founded in 1816 with the goal of distributing copies of the Bible throughout the world, American Bible Society is a seminal institution for American Christians. Endorsed in its time by Francis Scott Key, John Jay, Theodore Roosevelt, Billy Graham, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower, today the organization is a ministry based in Philadelphia with a $300 million endowment and a mission to engage 100 million Americans with the Bible by 2025. In The Bible Cause, the first complete history of the ministry in nearly thirty years, noted American historian John Fea demonstrates how the history of American Bible Society has intersected at nearly every point with the history of the United States.

For the last two hundred years, the ministry has steadily increased its influence both at home and abroad, working with all Christian denominations in the US and internationally and aligning itself whenever possible with the gatekeepers of American religious culture. Over the years American Bible Society Bibles could be found in hotel rooms, bookstores, and airports; on steamboats, college and university campuses; the Internet; and even behind the Iron Curtain. Its agents, Bibles in hand, could be found on the front lines of every American military conflict from the Mexican-American War to the war in Iraq. However and wherever the United States developed, American Bible Society was there. Throughout the last two centuries the organization has never wavered in its mission to place the Bible in the hands of as many people as possible.
